

The Grew of The White Pears and The Sea of Truth

The Sea of Truth can be everywhere, but it is hard to find. When a ship sails it and all onboard have pure hearts, the water is crystal clear and the sky is brilliant blue.

But when a crew with dark hearts sails the Sea of Truth, the Sea turns dark and lonely and the Sea of Truth shrinks or disappears.

Almost all hearts have little black needles in them. They come when people lie or are evil to others. Each black needle makes a heart a little darker and only by doing good, can the black needles be pulled out of our hearts again.

The White Fearl sails the land and waters of the world to seek people who need help and have the courage to accept help. Each person the White Fearl get the chance to truly help, will remove a black needle from our hearts.

Each black needle removed from a heart in the world will help bring back light that will make the Sea of Truth reappear.

You can help us in our quest to again sail the crystal clear waters of The Sea of Truth.

You can help by supporting us or those who we have helped, and who now help others. And if you want to be one, that we can ask for help, you can register as a follower of Grew of The White Pearl on the Goofle Driving Friends App. Go to mobile coofle com and visit www.greendrivethinking.com
